

Fri, 6 September

I think of all your deeds, O God, and stretch out my hands to you; my soul is thirsting for you like a parched land. (Psalms 143)